Trying Hard Like A Stone

I’m not afraid to confront the wars
That bring the past and present stars
I never fail to disappoint
To bring frustrations into success
For when I work I work to the deepest stilts
Peace is near to those who love
The futures reluctant to Winston’s start
I’m not groping anymore in the dark
To win the games is my goal and plight
For I’m always diligent in whatever field
For love brings life full of beginnings

The name resounds as forever binds
Light has found its dominion’s string
The race is far and wide but I will not survive
If not for the Lord’s help and might Endings are just a part of chessy life
I missed my chance to be with my strife
So go on with your life with the Lord
God Father Lord Jesus Christ Saviour and Holy Spirit by your side all the time

Whatever That Means

I’m always successful in whatever I do
I’m expecting success in whatever may happen
The time ahead of me is easy to tread
Life always offers me a good deal of faith
Never did a single failure frustrate me
Although I was again frustrated by failure from time to time
The places I travel in the world are unique
Love is always present wherever I go

Whatever life may bring I'm always ready
I will always offer my time and everything to God
For He will always help me whatever may come
And even if I don't understand
Whatever that means will be whatever He is to me
Love will never depart
Between the two of us
A love I will treasure forevermore

A Frivolous Life

War is imminent in the wager’s den
And funny clowns arrived therein
Even the weather is not happy and gloomy
Nothing can even ever deceive me
I question my life and so should you
For my life is nothing but a floating paper boat
Peace is at hand when nations agree
Where serious military converge I think
The sun is shining hot scorchingly

I am a product of the toughness roomy
I have declared my life in vain
The shipless wrecks go hand in hand insane
World wars start when countries disagree
When generals turn to clowns indeed
When life becomes frivolously shifting
When dorm mates decide to attack the bed
And love becomes alive in red

No It Won’t

Pleasure is what we always aim
To be cheerful is never the same
Life is never forgiving nor forgetting
Its chains are ever present before us
Without negativities we will succeed
So that without it we will proceed
The sun would then show its might Happiness is the gift that it will bring
Pain is never becoming a norm
Sadness and sorrow are two sides of a coin
So forgive and forget to achieve gladness

To release the fetters and shackles
Never indulge or live in the not
So that it won’t become our neverrealm
The moon will borrow its light from the sun
And no it won’t it will bring us good tidings

Embarking On A Journey Called Life

Love measures an amount of soil
And distant echoes mesmerize the soul
Faith only makes matters best
Humility wins the desirous heart
Invisible things I want to enjoy
To make it to Heaven or Rapture will be
The happiest season of my life
We will not lose hope all the time
Walk in the marathon and do not sprint
And finish the journey called life successfully
For sorrow doesn’t amount to toil

And faraway animals come to assemble
Fortitude gives life its utmost strength
Joy speaks in volumes more
I was blind but now I see
The reasons why we are Heaven- or hell-bound
I will not be sad nor sorrowful anymore
The quintessential properties of the soul
Be slow and not fast before the Lord
Even failures frustrate and disappear
Working hard gives us priority
To embark on a journey called life

Together Forever

The friends I pursue in all walks of life
Are the people who love me the most
They always try hard to please me
While I'm going through trials
Though life treats me like I'm insane
Whenever tribulations seem insurmountable
They present me with pleasures that erase
The life I knew is immutable
My past and present matter the most
Whenever I'm happy and well
My friends come to me together forever

I have faith that these people will be with me
The sunlight shines brightly
Love has been an advantageous mystery

You Are Irreplaceable

The hate that forges the ever gone
Is the emotion that forms the sun
You have to deal with me now
In thoughts words and actions
You always withdraw your love from me
And your thoughts communicate in silence
You never blame me and my imperfections
That show who really is the boss
You are enough for me, irreplaceable

In your body spirit and soul
Your body never fails to soothe my mind
You truly are my gift from God
Your hatred is not overflowing
You always see to it that I'm well
I will always pray for you indeed
To stay with me forevermore

Love Has Found Its Course

Never did any time fail me
Never did any time make me mad
The world is rotating and revolving still
And people will always be my inspiration
Time machines are things unseen
I perceive that in the invisible world
They are not evil but necessary devices
For I would love to travel to the past and future
To find and correct the things that fail me

People inspire me to do better and more
To evade and prevent the catastrophes from ever happening
The Earth I love the most so I try my best to save it and its inhabitants
The Earth is sufficient for me though unmarried
World wars are what I like in games the most
I would love it if the world reminisce the wars in video games
So that love has found its course in these events

To Be Left Behind

There will come a time that we will separate
But we will never find each other again
My dreams are becoming worse and worse
I come to realize you're not the one for me
I come to hate the very body soul and spirit that you have Your voice even doesn't materialize to me anymore

I’m not missing you even for a single kiss
All these things you will realize before I let you go
Nothing ever materializes between us anymore
I don’t wanna be left behind and be with you anymore

table of contents

Nothing Is Impossible

Nothing is impossible
In thoughts words and actions
As long as the Lord God Father is with you
In words
As long as you repent of your sins
To forgive and forget the Father wins
In actions
We must always obey His commandments
To forgive other human beings
After they have hurt and wronged us
Love hurts but we must be ready

To count the cost and survive the tragedy
In thoughts
Always make it clean and clear
So that we will always please the Holy Trinity
